I'm a printing and packaging production specialist.

I'm a Houston, Texas native currently transplanted into San Clemente, California. I graduated from the University of Houston with honors studying Digital Media with an emphasis in packaging design and print production and a minor in Organizational Leadership & Supervision.

I have a knack for assisting others especially during serious time crunches and enjoy being helpful. I am looking for an opportunity to apply the skills I have learned in order to gain a leadership position and work with a team
